LabOne, now called Quest Diagnostics, is a centralized laboratory that provides testing and information services to companies nationwide. The acquisition enabled Quest Diagnostics to expand their presence in Kansas, which included the drugs of abuse testing business. They perform testing for more than half a million patients each day in the U.S.

BHC RHODES provided site design services for the expansion of the parking facilities. The expansion design included grading and erosion control plans, storm drainage design, and parking lot improvements to the existing lot. This is one of multiple projects BHC RHODES has designed to assist Anderson MacAdam Architects, Inc.
