Mission Hills is one of Kansas City's suburbs located on the Kansas side of the Kansas-Missouri state line. It was originally developed by J.C. Nichols in the 1920s as part of his Country Club District plan. BHC RHODES provided design services for improvements to 1.6 miles of Mission Drive. The improvements consisted of the replacement of curb and gutter, rehabilitation or replacement of asphalt paving, rebuilding curb inlet structures, installation of a curb underdrain system, replacement of driveway approaches, and repair or upgrades to the existing storm water drainage system and structures.
