The historic River Club was said to be built on the 611 E. 8th Street site because of its breathtaking view. Here patrons continue to enjoy the trappings of old-school elitism, from the strictly enforced coat-and-tie rule, to the priceless Thomas Hart Benton painting, to the five-star cuisine. BHC RHODES provided an ALTA survey of the property. It involved making use of research dating back to original records. The critical item within the survey was dealing with overlapping of several original parcels over the life span of the club.
